- You show respect when you treat other people as you would like to be treated.
- You treat people with courtesy and kindness not because of who they are or what they have done, but because, like you, they have a God-given dignity.
- You respect yourself so that you have the confidence to be yourself and not give in to things you know are wrong or not to give in to those who want you to do things you don't want to do.
- You show respect for creation through your care for nature.
