Dear Student

Subject:

Congratulations! You have been chosen by your subject teacher as one of the students who has demonstrated excellence in learning for this week either in school, or at home.

We understand how challenging it can be to fully engage with your learning during the strange times we are experiencing at the moment and we are very proud of you for managing to do that so well.

You all deserve a well-earned break, I hope you really enjoy the half-term holiday next week.

Hopefully we will know more soon about when we will all be back together in school.

Yours sincerely
