Virtue of the Week – HONESTY

“We all know that art is not truth. Art is a lie that makes us realise truth.”
(Pablo Picasso)

You might be awarded an honesty virtue for doing things like:

- Telling the truth when it is difficult to do
- Offering your opinion about things in class
- Being reliable, your words and actions match

- You are truthful with yourself and with others.
- You tell the truth without exaggerating what you say or without sometimes saying less than you know to be true even when admitting the truth may be hard to do.
- You are reliable because you keep the promises you make.
- You have integrity, your words match your actions and you do not try to be like someone you are not: you are your true self.

Little Bits of God

Knowledge

- Right now there is an artwork, a mosaic, touring the country, called Little Bits of God.
- It was created by Peter Codling as part of The God Who Speaks campaign, which is all about knowing the Bible.
- It can currently be seen at Leeds St Anne's Cathedral.
- Watch this video to learn more about the artwork.

Reasoning

1. What features did you see in the mosaic?
2. What was the artist trying to say through his mosaic?
3. What do you think Picasso meant when he said: "Art is a lie that makes us realise truth"?

Practice

1. Visit Leeds Cathedral to see the mosaic. You have until 9/2!
2. View the mosaic on the interactive website.
3. Try to discover the best way for you to express your own truth.
